Join us this September as we celebrate the opportunity for women to take a proactive step in serving their communities!

Lend a hand towards building homes, become a voice of empowerment, and lead your community towards strength and stability through compassion and homeownership.

Women and children are the most vulnerable to poor living conditions, and make up a majority of the families and individuals we partner with in Central Delaware. As a call to action, this campaign puts a spotlight on the need for safe and stable housing while advocating for the families and individuals we serve - women.

Women Build does not serve as a pedestal. But instead as an outlet for teaching and learning skills and having experiences as better preparation for the independence of owning and maintaining a home.

Help us bridge the gap between obtainable homeownership by bringing home to families and individuals in Kent County. Challenge yourself, your friends, and your peers in undertaking a commitment for the betterment of your neighbors.

Turn action into impact through volunteering, advocating or donating today, so the families we partner with have a more stable tomorrow. Together, we build vibrant communities and better futures.
